I began my career in 1999 as a teacher at a Girls' High School in Jamalpur. Between 2000 and 2003, I worked in various roles within the central accounts department of several general insurance companies (Head office) in Dhaka. In early 2004, I joined a well-known English medium school in Dhanmondi as the Head of Accounts and Administration. I eventually served as the CEO of the school until 2015.

In 2012, I ventured into business by co-founding a real estate company, Home Address Builders Ltd. The following year, in 2013, I established Travel Diary, marking the start of my business career as Managing Director of Home Address Builders Ltd. and Proprietor of Travel Diary. In 2020, I expanded my business endeavors by co-founding Mahasin Enterprises.

Today, I manage multiple businesses in Dhaka, including those related to import and export through Travel Diary and Mahasin Enterprises. I've remained committed to social causes alongside my professional work, holding important roles in various organizations over the years.

💭 Like everyone, I've faced both challenges and successes in life. Through my personal, professional, and business experiences, I've learned valuable lessons that have shaped me into who I am today. Alhamdulillah, I am deeply grateful for all that I have achieved.

 $\tilde{\mathcal{D}}$ Though there are many stories from my journey, some are best shared over tea rather than on paper. On a personal note, I have a happy family with an only daughter, for which I am ever thankful to Allah. Life is beautiful, and I cherish every challenge it brings. Outside of work, I enjoy long drives, traveling, and spending time in conversation.

At this point in life, I am content and grateful for where I am today.
